A request for continued examination under 37 CFR § 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR § 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR § 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR § 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR § 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on August 4, 2003, has been entered. Claims 38-57 are now pending.

EXAMINER'S STATEMENT OF REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance: After an updated search, the prior art already of record remains the closest prior art known. In particular, the prior art documents relied on in the final rejection mailed June 3, 2003, have been carefully studied in view of the newly presented claims. It is clear that none of the prior art, either singly or collectively, discloses or suggests the entirety of the invention as is now being claimed. As now claimed, a variable group delay is introduced between orthogonal polarization modes in a birefringent, microstructured optical waveguide in order to adjust the birefringence and compensate for polarization mode dispersion which may be present. As pointed out by applicant, of all the prior art of record, only the U.S. Patents to Chang and Epworth adjust the birefringence of a waveguide in order to compensate for polarization mode dispersion. Neither of these two references employs a microstructured optical waveguide and neither adjusts the birefringence in the same manner claimed by applicant. The previously relied-on combination of Pan (USP 6,400,869) and Koplow (USPAP 2002/0159139) is actually not as pertinent as previously thought. Upon careful study, it is seen that Koplow does not use a high-birefringence microstructured optical fiber as previously indicated, and the combination of references thus cannot operate in the manner claimed. The claimed invention is thus patentably distinct from the prior art, and claims 38-57 are allowed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

DISCUSSION OF THE CITED PRIOR ART

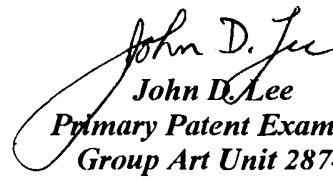

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited U.S. Patents to Ranka et al and Noe, and the cited U.S. Patent Application Publication to Ranka et al are related to the dispersion compensation technique being claimed, but the two Ranka et al references do not adjust the waveguide birefringence (although they use microstructured optical waveguides), and the Noe reference does not use a microstructured birefringent waveguide.
